

TOLC test

minimum requirements assessment test
(TARM) for undergraduate programs
without a fixed quota of places

Il sistema educativo italiano – Italian education system

Programs with or without a fixed quota of places: what's the difference?

Programs without a fixed quota of places (= without admission exam): applicants are not required to pass an admission exam in order to enrol, but they must sit a minimum requirements assessment test (TARM), provided through the TOLC test of CISIA. The TOLC is a non selective test, but it is mandatory and it is used to assess the prior knowledge of the candidate. Different TOLC tests correspond to different degree programs.

Programs with a fixed quota of places (= with admission exam): candidates must take the admission exam and place themselves in a useful position in the raking list. For information on the registration procedure and on the exams syllabuses, please visit this webpage.

TOLC

WHAT'S TOLC? TOLC stands for Test OnLine CISIA. It is a mandatory test provided for all students wishing to enrol in undergraduate degree programs or in 5-6 years postgraduate degree programs without a restricted number of places. Its purpose is to evaluate the basic prior knowledge of the student before the enrolment. The knowledge to be evaluated depends on the chosen degree program.

WHEN? We suggest you to register for the specific type of TOLC as soon as possible. If you are an extra-EU student residing abroad, you should upload your test results on your University pre-enrollment application within July 16th. The test has a cost of € 30,00.

WHERE? By registering on the CISIA website you may select which type of TOLC to sit, the location and the date - among those available. The test can be taken at a session offered by any Italian university, both in presence (at the University) or at a distance (through the TOLC@HOME format).

Which type of TOLC to sit?

WHAT'S CISIA? CISIA is an online platform supporting the University of Turin in its evaluation of the student's prior knowledge before enrolment. CISIA provides different types of TOLC.

TYPES OF VALID TOLC FOR ENROLLING AT UNITO:

- TOLC-E
- English TOLC-E
- TOLC-SU
- TOLC-S

PLEASE NOTE: even if you have been deemed eligible for two degree programs, when applying for your study visa through the University portal you will be asked to choose one degree program only. Therefore, be aware to sit and upload the TOLC required for the degree program you wish to pre-enrol on the University portal.
