PART I GENERAL RULES

ART. 1 – PRELIMINARY REMARKS AND GENERAL RULES

This document regulates student tuition fees in consideration of fairness and gradual and progressive nature, in addition to legal provisions in force.

In order to regularly enrol on a course and benefit from the services provided by the University, students must pay each instalment of the academic tuition fees according to what is set forth in the Contribution and Tuition Fees Regulation pertaining to those years. Students must also have no outstanding debts of any kind with EDISU and the University; this excludes any payment plans which have been agreed upon.

Students who have any outstanding debts (by way of example, student tuition fees, penalties, unused international mobility scholarships, honour loans, etc.) cannot perform any actions pertaining to their degree, including sitting exams of your degree course.

In the event a student wishes to terminate or pause his/her academic career, all debts must be paid.

In order to make payments, students must access with their credentials to MyUniTO - Tuition Fees and choose the type of payment they would like from the payments available.

Commissions are to be added to the tuition fees, depending on the chosen method of payment.

It is not possible to make the tuition fee payment via bank transfer directly to the University account, with the exception of payments received from foreign accounts.

The deadlines set forth in this document are calculated according to the standard calendar.

For everything that is not regulated herein, the relevant regulations apply.

The following payments cannot be reimbursed:

- admission tests;
- stamp duties;
- SIAE rights;
- CUS Torino contributions;
- commissions requested by the payment system used;
- penalties, with the exception of the following cases:
 - when a mistake was made on behalf of the administration;
 - when a penalty is not envisaged for a late payment that has been made;
 - when there is no late payment;
 - when decided by the Equity Committee of the University.
