COURSE SUMMARY

This class aims to illustrate the link between business model and organizational solutions; the main types of organizational forms; and some of the most important mechanisms and tools for improving coordination and control in organizations.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Knowledge and understanding: Understanding the main solutions that enterprises and public institutions adopt to address organizational problems, and the role of organizational issues in the wider picture of administrative disciplines.

- Applying knowledge and understanding: Applying organizational concepts and techniques in the analysis of simplified business cases;
- Making judgements. Developing evaluations (although simplified) around the organizational issues implied in concrete business cases;
- Communication skills. Illustrating and discussing, also through digital tools, specific business organization issues;
- Learning skills. Progressively checking the level of learning, through constructive interactions with the teacher and other students.
